

The Alchemist's Vault: Sealing the Legacy

(Year 7 - Ages 12-13)

Lesson 9 of 9

Name: _____ Class: _____

Mission Briefing: You have completed the training. You have explored the science, the ethics, and the heart of donation. Now, you must distill all that knowledge into one single object: The Philosopher's Stone. This artifact will be placed in the Alchemist's Vault (Time Capsule) as a record of your values.

Part 1: The Great Work (Review)

Look back at your journey. Which "Element" mattered the most to you?

The Element	Why it mattered to me...
The Science (Biology/Systems)	e.g., I loved learning how we can fix broken 'machines'.
The Empathy (Different Lenses)	e.g., I realized everyone sees things differently.
The Catalyst (Family Chat)	e.g., I realized how important talking to my family is.
The Legacy (Helping others)	e.g., I want to be a person who leaves a mark.

My Core Element is:

Part 2: Designing the Artifact (The Stone)

Task: You will create a paper artifact (a card, a coin, a symbol) to go into the Vault.

Design Brief:

- Front: A symbol representing your Core Element (e.g., An hourglass, a heart, a speech bubble, a shield).
- Back: A short "Incantation" (Message) to your future self.

Draft your Design: (Sketch your symbol here)

Draft your Message: (What do you want your Future Self to remember about kindness?)
"Remember that your voice has power..."

e : admin@donatebuddies.com.au
w: www.donatebuddies.com.au

Where Little Hearts Become Heroes

Part 3: The Final Reflection

The Alchemist's Code: Complete these sentences to finish your logbook.

Before this unit, I thought organ donation was...

Now, I realize that organ donation is...

My one action I will take (e.g., talk to family, register later) is...

Extension: The Future Headline

Imagine it is 50 years in the future. Science (Lesson 3) has advanced. Write a News Headline about transplantation. Example: "3D Printed Hearts Available at Every Pharmacy!"

My Headline:

e : admin@donatebuddies.com.au
w: www.donatebuddies.com.au

Donate Buddies
Where Little Buddies Become Heroes