Student Worksheet

Activity 1: Mission Debrief – Communication Detective Case File

Task: Your detective agency has been given a mission. Fill out this case file with your communication plan. Your teacher will give you your 'Mission' and your 'Audience'.

TOP SECRET: CASE FILE

OUR MISSION: (What is your goal? e.g., "Start a school garden")

OUR AUDIENCE (Who are we talking to?): (e.g., "The School Principal," "Our Classmates," "Our Parents")

DETECTIVE NOTES (What does our audience care about?): (What is important to them? e.g., "Our principal cares about... the school looking good, students learning, safety.")

OUR COMMUNICATION STRATEGY (How will we share our message?): (What's the best way to get their attention and help?)

- Circle one: A Poster / A Speech / A Skit / A Meeting
- What will it say or show? (e.g., "Our poster will show... pictures of vegetables, facts about science, a plan for who will do the watering.")

OUR 'BIG IDEA' (Our key message in one sentence): (e.g., "A new garden will help us learn science and make our school look beautiful!")

Activity 2: The Most Important Mission – The Family Team

Task: Great work, detectives! You’ve learned that how you share an idea is just as important as the idea itself. The most important "mission" of all is talking with your family.

1. Think about your 'Family Mission': Why is it important to be respectful and listen when talking about big ideas with your family or the grown-ups who care for you?

2. A 'Helping Hero' Conversation: In Lesson 1, we learned about "Helping Heroes." The most important step to becoming a 'Helping Hero' (an organ and tissue donor) is not medical—it's talking to your family so they know what you would want. This is a "Family Mission" based on love and respect.
